Shall there be an amendment to the Colorado constitution concerning English language education in Colorado public schools, and recognition thereof, requiring children to be taught to use the English language in their classrooms and requiring children who are learning English to be placed in an English immersion program that is intended to last one year or less, and if successful, will require placement of such children in voluntary educational programs, including those programs that children whose parents or legal guardians obtain annual waivers allowing the children to transfer to classes using bilingual education or other educational methodologies, but making such waivers very difficult to obtain because the school can grant them only in very narrow circumstances, and can deny them for any reason or no reason having nothing to do with bilingual education, and in all other cases permitting students to transfer to a public school in which bilingual education or other methodologies are offered, with the cost of such transfer, including transportation, to be provided by the state, allowing a parent or legal guardian to sue public employees for a waiver of the parent or guardian's consent, but that the waiver will be granted to enter and attend the child's education, involving severe, legal consequences equivalent to the amendment for such public employees who willfully and knowingly refuse to implement the amendment and requiring schools to test children learning English, instead of using grade or higher to monitor their progress, using a standardized nationally normed test of academic subject matter given in English?
